MODUS

Every model, one software.

One subscription for every frontier model, that also knows your inbox, calendar, files and memory.

THE PROBLEM

The best AI is fragmented, and you pay for all of it.

Four subscriptions

ChatGPT, Claude, Gemini and Perplexity each want about $20 a month. The serious user pays roughly $80 for four tabs.

No single best model

The leader changes every few weeks. Locking into one lab means using a worse model the moment someone else ships.

None of them know you

Every chat starts cold. Your inbox, calendar and files live somewhere else, so the AI answers without any of your context.

THE SOLUTION

MODUS is the answer engine that runs every model and knows you.

- Every model, one price

  Frontier models from every lab under a single $24 a month subscription. Always the newest, no per lab lock in.

- Auto or ask them all

  MODUS routes each task to the best model, or asks up to three at once so you can compare answers side by side.

- Connected context

  Plugs into your inbox, calendar, files and memory, so answers use what you actually have, not a blank slate.

PRODUCT

One workspace. Chat, compare, and your daily briefing.

Web, desktop and iPhone

The same workspace everywhere, already shipped and in daily use.

Compare mode

Fire one prompt at multiple models and read the answers next to each other.

Briefing and workspace

Goals, reminders and a daily briefing built from your connected context.

WHY NOW

The model race is speeding up, not settling down.

01

No permanent winner

The frontier lead flips between labs every few weeks. Users who commit to one are always one release behind.

02

Consumer AI is proven

ChatGPT has over 900 million weekly users and more than 50 million paying subscribers. The habit exists.

03

Fragmentation is the tax

The more good models ship, the more a single neutral layer over all of them is worth. The problem grows with the market.

THE MOAT

The Switzerland of AI.

MODUS wins by being the one player that is never owned by a single lab.

Neutral by design

OpenAI will never ship Claude. Google will never ship GPT. Only a neutral layer can offer the best of all of them.

Newest model, day one

Whoever takes the lead, our users get it immediately, without switching apps or paying again.

Reinforcing context

Routing, one price everywhere and connected context all compound. The more you use MODUS, the better it knows you.

MARKET

The spend already exists. We consolidate it.

Power features and higher limits

Free tier runs open models on a rolling window, so cost is bounded. Paid tiers carry the frontier models. Limits add-on stacks on top.

TRACTION

Built and shipped, by one founder.

platforms live

Web, desktop and iPhone, all shipped with billing.

10

models wired

Every major lab, routed and priced under one account.

Warm

paying users

Real subscribers on the paid plan, plus daily engagement.

Product risk is behind us. The raise funds distribution, not the build.

GO TO MARKET

A distribution plan, not a build plan.

01 Affiliates and creators

AI creators and newsletters earn on annual plans. Our likely strongest channel, aligned on incentive.

02 Content engine

Branded pages and a steady publishing cadence that ranks for the multi model comparison intent.

03 Desktop wedge

The desktop app and screen assist give a native surface that lives next to the work, not in a browser tab.

COMPETITION

Nobody else is neutral and knows you.

TEAM

Solo founder who ships.

Jeremiah Maximo

Founder. Built and shipped MODUS across web, desktop and iPhone, including billing, routing across every major lab, and connected context. Also runs a marketing agency and a second live product, so distribution and revenue are the day job.

What this raise adds

A part time growth partner and a real distribution budget, so the product that is already built reaches the people who want it.

THE ASK

Raising $125k

Post money SAFE, $4M cap, about 3.1 percent.

Runway

12 to 15 months of focused build and growth.

Distribution

Budget for affiliates, content and paid tests.

Growth partner

A part time hire to own the channels.

Infra and models

Model and infrastructure costs as usage grows.

Every model, one software.

The neutral answer engine that runs every model and knows you.
The product is built. Let us fund the distribution.
